

LaVone Sterling Fine Art. - April Newsletter

Eucalyptus On The Ranch

Spring is here and the hills are blanketed with wildflowers. What a gift to be enjoyed and to paint. I hope all of you are knee-deep in tall grass, fresh air and painting away.

March was a busy month for me. My two workshops went very well. We had some very talented artists participating in both groups. We also had a couple pastel newbies in the Visalia workshop. I always love introducing pastel to new people and watching how quickly they catch on to it.

April started off with a bang. I am so fortunate to again be participating in Richard McKinley's Pastel and Oil Mentoring workshop in Santa Barbara April 1-7. Then on April 8th I will be judging the Annual Spring Show for the Tulare Palette Club.

An exciting and fun workshop is planned in the month of May. It will be in Three Rivers, CA - May 20 & 21, 2017. The workshop will be sponsored by Uart Paper Co. We will be emphasizing morning and evening light in the landscape. If you haven't made your reservation, now is the time. Three Rivers is an artist community and is the gateway to Sequoia National Park. There are so many beautiful spots - everywhere you look is a potential painting.

Again, the dates for the workshop are May 20th and 21st. The title of the workshop is: "The Magic Light Brings To The Landscape". To sign up, just tap on the link below.
